The Center for Gulf Studies in partnership with the Department of International Relations at the American University of Kuwait presents a talk entitled:

CHALLENGES TO TRANSITION: THE EGYPTIAN CASE

By:

Dr. Ann Lesch, Professor of Political Science
American University in Cairo

Dr. Ann Lesch is Professor of Political Science and the Associate Provost of International Programs at the American University in Cairo. She joined AUC in 2004 as Dean of Humanities and Social Sciences. She received her PhD from Columbia University. In 1998 she co-founded the Palestinian American Research Center. Dr. Lesch’s research interests include Palestinian, Egyptian, and Sudanese politics, the Arab-Israeli conflict, and inter-Arab relations, on which she has published around sixty academic articles and book chapters, and more than ten books.

DATE:
Wednesday, 13 February 2013

TIME:
6:30 pm

VENUE:
AUK Auditorium

www.auk.edu.kw/cgs