NBK dedicated to honoring outstanding children of staff for their effort and academic excellence: Sulaiman Al Marzouq

National Bank of Kuwait (NBK) honored the children of staff who achieved excellence in the academic year 2018/19, in recognition of their hard work and efforts, in a customized ceremony held on their honor.

Students and their families joined the event which was attended by Sulaiman Al Marzouq, NBK-Kuwait Deputy CEO and Emad Al Ablani, NBK General Manager – Group Human Resources along with a group of NBK Officials.

Al Marzouq congratulated the students and urged them to continue working hard to achieve their goals. "This event is an integral part of our CSR initiatives aimed at supporting the education sector," said Al Marzouq. "We at NBK firmly believe in students' capabilities and their great potentials. We are proud of our children and what they have achieved and will achieve in the long run" Al Marzouq explained, "I wish them success in their future studies and strive for them to excel to build the right foundation as they are the future of our country."

"NBK is dedicated to honoring the outstanding children of staff in recognition of their academic excellence and effort each year, and also in recognition of the parents who constantly grant all the necessities of their children to ensure their success," Al Marzouq added.

NBK has successfully maintained its commitment to educational purposes and student support for more than 6 decades. NBK supports education and excellence for the youth of Kuwait in a variety of ways, including holding such honoring ceremonies to recognize and reward students striving toward excellence.

AUK kicks off new academic year with orientations, activities

KUWAIT CITY, Sept 12: The American University of Kuwait (AUK) began the 2019/2020 academic year by welcoming the new and returning students and faculty to its campus and held a series of orientations and activities to acclimate them to university life.

During the general university faculty & staff meeting, AUK President Dr Rawda Awwad credited the staff and faculty's hard work as the foundation for all that the University has achieved, as she explains, "Our commitment towards the success of this institution is more than often unflinching and unquestionably solid. And this is not simply mere talk or hearsay: our accreditors think the same in that they have given us a clean bill of health with the understanding that we become sturdier and more effective at what we do with a keen sense of purpose."

AUK continued with the series of orientations with sessions for newly admitted students. Held at the university auditorium, the students were welcomed by President Awwad and the Vice-President for Student Affairs, Dr Hanan Muzaffar who introduced the students to the dynamic environment on campus that involves both academic and recreational events.

Addressing the new students, Dr Mu-zaffar said, "We extend a very warm welcome to our new students and encourage them to take advantage of all the available resources on campus so they may have a holistic collegiate experience. We look forward to seeing your growth and accomplishments in the coming years."

Part of the student orientation were informational sessions as well as ice-breaker activities that helped ease nerves and jumpstart friendships. Following the orientation, the students were broken up into smaller groups and taken on a campus tour led by peer mentors who have been assigned to guide them through their first few weeks at university.

The start of the fall semester saw a series of festivities such as an outdoor barbeque, sports competitions, an ice cream social, and an involvement fair where students familiarized themselves with all the clubs and organizations that they could join on campus.
